Terrance Hines, MD, sworn in as TAFP Parliamentarian

AUSTIN, TEXAS — Terrance Hines, MD, of Austin, Texas, was sworn in as parliamentarian of the Texas Academy of Family Physicians during a virtual induction ceremony on Oct. 31.

Dr. Hines completed undergraduate and medical school at Texas A&M University and residency at John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth. He spent 10 years at Baylor Scott & White Health in Austin and became the Assistant Division Director for Primary Care. He is an adjunct assistant professor at Texas A&M College of Medicine and affiliate faculty at Dell Medical School at UT Austin. Since November 2019, he has served as the Executive Director and Chief Medical Officer at University Health Services at The University of Texas at Austin. He recently was recognized with the Austin Under 40 Award in Medicine and Health Care as well as the TAFP Special Constituency Leadership Award.

During his year as TAFP Parliamentarian, Hines will work with other officers to lead the Academy: President Amer Shakil, MD, MBA, of Dallas; Immediate Past President and Board Chair Javier “Jake” Margo Jr., MD, of Rio Grande City; President-elect Mary Nguyen, MD, of Castroville; and Treasurer Emily Briggs, MD, of New Braunfels.

Family physicians like Hines are qualified to work in all major medical areas and are trained to treat more than 90% of all cases they encounter. Family physicians care for patients of all ages.

The Texas Academy of Family Physicians is the premier membership organization dedicated to uniting the family doctors of Texas through advocacy, education and member services, and empowering them to provide a medical home for patients of all ages. It has 32 local chapters and is a chapter of the American Academy of Family Physicians. Visit www.tafp.org for more information.
